

Group Readings

Thank you for your interest in booking a group reading!

Here are the guidelines for your review. Please pass this information along to all of your potential guests so that everyone is aware of what to expect for your group reading experience.

To begin with, let's prioritize your well-being. If you're feeling unwell in any way, I kindly urge you to stay in the comfort of your home.

Participating in a group reading offers a truly wonderful and heartwarming opportunity to spend time with your cherished friends and family. It's a chance to connect with your loved ones in the Spirit realm, a deeply meaningful experience that goes beyond mere entertainment.

A gentle reminder: Your intention and energy are powerful factors here. Please approach this with an open heart and an open mind. Those who have received the most profound readings are often the ones who approach it with openness and a genuine desire for connection, rather than treating it as a test. When you embrace this experience with willingness, you naturally open the door to specific messages from the Spirit realm.

As we approach the reading, I kindly request that you refrain from using recreational drugs or alcohol the night before and the day of the event. This is because these substances can affect your personal energy and potentially hinder the connection between you, your loved ones, and me. However, if you're on regular medications for medical reasons, please continue taking them as prescribed.

Feel free to bring along an object or a photo of someone in the Spirit realm whom you wish to connect with. While I don't require these items to establish a connection, they can sometimes assist in the process.

I purposefully arrive right on time for these gatherings, not before, to ensure a clean slate and unbiased reading. I find it essential to maintain the integrity of your reading. Conversations often unfold before we officially begin, and I respect that. So, expect a knock on your door at the scheduled time.

It's important to acknowledge that I cannot guarantee a connection with every individual during mediumship, just as with any medium. The energy can vary, and it's ultimately up to the Spirit realm to decide who comes through and what messages are conveyed. Rest assured, I'm committed to doing my utmost to facilitate connections between the physical and Spirit worlds. However, some aspects are beyond our control and cannot be forced.

I warmly welcome you to the details of our group readings, where connections with the Spirit realm come alive in a heartwarming setting.

For these gatherings, there's no minimum required number of guests, though we cap it at a maximum of 10 to ensure an intimate and meaningful experience. Each group reading will unfold over approximately 90 minutes, allowing for a deep and soulful exploration.

The investment for these transformative events is a flat rate of $700. To secure your reservation, a non-refundable deposit of $150 is kindly requested.

The remaining balance will be due 10 days prior to the event. Please note that cancellations within less than 10 days of the event unfortunately cannot be refunded, as this timeframe limits our ability to accommodate others. Your understanding is deeply appreciated.

To complete payments, we utilize email transfers. Kindly send the email transfer to mediumcourtneydawson@gmail.com. One email transfer from the host will suffice to cover the group's contribution.

I want to acknowledge that the flat rate remains consistent, even if, by chance, not every individual receives a direct mediumistic message. While I sincerely strive to deliver as many messages as possible, I must emphasize that I cannot guarantee a message for each attendee.

As a dedicated medium, I hold the responsibility of creating a safe and respectful environment.

In rare cases where I feel uncomfortable or face verbal abuse or unkindness, I may choose not to provide a reading for that particular individual. My goal is to maintain a space of healing and positivity for everyone present.

The beauty of mediumship lies in its healing and inspirational qualities.

When inviting your guests, I encourage you to extend the invitation to those with an open mind and a genuine desire for healing, spirit connection, and a deeper understanding of the unseen world.

I trust that this outline sheds light on the flow of your upcoming event.

Anticipating the honour of connecting you with your loved ones, I eagerly await our shared experience. The opportunity to foster this profound connection with you and your cherished spirits is a privilege I hold close to my heart.

Should you require further information, please don't hesitate to reach out. Your comfort and clarity are of utmost importance to me.

With warmth and gratitude,

Courtney Dawson
